"The L7 system focuses my people on the current top priorities. We have increased revenue and productivity to a scale I had not thought possible."

CEO, mid-sized company

YOUR CHALLENGES

DESIRE FOR SIMPLICITY AND CLARITY

You consistently make the right strategic choices. Your tactics respond quickly to changes in the market. However, there seems to be a disconnect when it comes to execution. The organization does not properly align behind your initiatives. You recognize that success depends upon quickly maximizing the productivity and focus of your team's effort. Your desire is for simplicity and clarity. The options you have explored have been too complex, burdensome and expensive. ■

CREATING VALUE THROUGH RAPID CHANGE

Often your organizations may be working on projects which at their inception were aligned and focused on current tactical needs. As strategy changes occur, the organization does not recognize the change and continues to address yesterday's priorities. These projects, viewed as essential yesterday, become today's burden. Individuals need to confirm and understand how their work efforts contribute to today's priorities. The leader needs to understand how well the organization is responding. Communication between the two needs to be clear, actionable and measurable. ■

YOUR SOLUTION

THE L7 SOLUTION

The L7 Performance Manager was designed by business leaders who were frustrated with the complexity that vendors had built into their products. They had been down the complex "boil the ocean" road. The infrastructure, complexity and cost required in supporting those initiatives slowed down momentum in a quickly changing environment. The rigidity of the process reduced flexibility and speed. The L7 design criteria has been foremost "clarity with simplicity". ■
